

Advertising on a Technical Service Order (TSO)

For those of you who have come to me for Computer Repair have seen my TSO's. These are service orders telling me what needs to be repaired, and a portion of this document which goes home with you which has my contact information on it, what service I will be performing to your computer, and a coupon or business listing at the bottom of this document. In the graphic below you will see what the TSO looks like, and in dashed lines what the business listing or coupon looks like. Currently this advertising opportunity is free of charge. The distribution varies greatly but averages somewhere around 1200 or higher for the year. Your advertisement would be printed on a percentage of these forms.
